BULGARIANS INVADE SERVIA NEAR NISH; STRIKE AT RAILWAY

King Ferdinand's Troops Reported to Have Crossed Border Northeast and Southeast of Nish, Where They Are Checked.

Germans Capture Fortress and City of Semendria East of Belgrade and Advance Elsewhere.

Russians Pierce German Lines in Eastern Galicia—Rumania Reported Ready to Join Allies.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The expected invasion of Serbia by Bulgarian troops has begun and fragmentary dispatches received here indicate the Bulgars may have crossed into Serbian territory at two points.

The Serbian legation today received this telegram from Nish: "Last night, Bulgarians began an attack in the direction of Vlasina. All attacks up to the present have been repulsed decisively."

A dispatch from Athens says the Bulgarians began an attack at Gorniohaz, near Kladjevat, at midday Monday. A dispatch from Nish to the Havan agency also says the Bulgarians have been attacked at Kladjevat. Kladjevat is 25 miles northeast of Nish, while Vlasina is about 30 miles southeast of the capital.

At the same time the Germans, who have crossed the Danube, continue their advance into Serbia. Berlin today announced the capture of Semendria, an important city in Belgrade. Military experts have assumed that when Bulgaria struck she would attempt to seize the railroad running from Belgrade to Constantinople by way of Nish. Another line runs direct from Nish to Semendria and is the one over which the allied troops now being landed at the Greek port could be transported north to the aid of the Serbians.

Kladjevat is on a branch line railroad running from Nish to Zajevar, a fortified town on the Serbian frontier, and Negotin, on the Danube. Kladjevat is 5 miles northeast of Nish.

Desperate Fighting on Danube. A Serbian official statement covering operations on the ninth on the Danube front says:

"There were desperate combats for the positions south of Ram, where we repulsed all enemy attacks. Our troops took the offensive between Malava and the Morava River, throwing the enemy back upon the bank of the Danube and capturing three mortars and four machine guns."

"Continued passage of the river between Semendria and Gorniohaz by the enemy was prevented. One detachment that had crossed near Semendria was annihilated in part by our fire and the rest of the troops were driven into the stream."

"At Belgrade, following a heavy cannonading, the enemy tried to take by assault Great Vratcar and Delibeg, but was thrown back with heavy losses before Great Vratcar and driven out of Delibeg by a counter attack, after having lost a considerable part of his force."

"On the Drina front several detachments of Austro-Germans crossed the river between Teza and Padovine, but were unable to advance. We held our positions."

Another communication from Nish says the Germans are using 4-inch cannon, "which are rendering the combat very sanguinary," and that the losses on both sides are becoming particularly heavy in officers. The Germans and Austrians are said to have large forces, and near Obrenovatz the Austrians are using asphyxiating gas in abundance.

Rumania Reported With Allies. Premier Bratianu of Rumania has given the Italian Government to understand that Rumanian co-operation on the side of the allies may be considered certain, says a special dispatch from Rome. The Rumanian Government, however, will choose its own time for taking the field against the Austro-Germans.

French Make Night Gains. French troops have made further progress in Artois and Champagne. Gains have been made in the wood to the west of the road from Souchez to Angres, in the Souchez valley, on the ridges toward La Folle. In Champagne, a vigorous attack has carried the whole of the German fortified work to the south of the village of Chahure.

An official communication from Field Marshal Sir John French, the British commander in chief in France, says: "Further information shows that the German attack on our front south of La Bassée canal on the eighth was made in great strength. The main German efforts were directed against the chalk pit north of Hill 70 and between Hill 70 and the Hohenzollern redoubt."

"In the chalk pit attack the enemy assembled behind some woods which lie from 300 to 500 yards off our trenches. Between these woods and our line the attack was mowed down by a combined rifle, machine gun and artillery fire, not a man getting to within 40 yards of our trenches."

SILENT MUSIC OF PAVLOVA, FEATURE OF 'THE MUTE GIRL'

Boston Grand Opera Company Gives Remarkable Performance of Auber's Work.

WAS WELL SUPPORTED

Felice Lyne, Missouri Girl Makes Debut in Native State With Chief Singing Role.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

The silent music of Anna Pavlova's melodious grace, displayed in a role that was pantomime throughout, thrillingly outshone all the vocal art of her rivals in the cast of Francois Auber's noble mima-drama, "La Muette de Portici," with which the Boston Grand Opera Co. and the Pavlova Ballet Russe initiated a series of four performances last night at the Odeon.

It has long been known that the famous Russian dancer could act, for in her ballets she has always thrown her whole personality into the character she was portraying; and this, her first appearance in a formal role, revealed in her histrionic talents of the highest order. In the midst of Auber's tempestuous arias, choruses and orchestration she alone remained mute, a tongueless thing enveloped by whirlwinds of sound; but when she was on the stage it was upon her that every eye was fixed, anxious not to miss a single entrancing tone of her lyric postures.

Story of the Opera. Her role was that of a dumb girl, Fenella, wronged by the wicked passion of Alfonso, son of the Duke of Arcos. To avenge her wrongs her brother, Manafello, incites a rebellion against Alfonso's house, and is crowned king of Naples. But when Alfonso's bride, Fenella, is fleeing for their lives, Fenella melts into pity for her betrayer and persuades her brother to save them. This act of magnanimity proves fatal to the revolution, for Alfonso, driven mad by his actions, Manafello, driven mad by the tragic outcome, is slain by his own followers for treachery, and Fenella flings herself into the burning crater of Vesuvius.

This opera has the distinction of having been performed in the city of St. Louis in 1830, the riots in Brussels which led to the winning of Belgium's independence from Holland. Indeed, it burns throughout with a singular incandescence of passion. The music itself, like streams of molten lava, white-hot from the volcano in which Fenella met her doom. There was an unabating conflagration of emotions blazing upon the stage, and where the mute Pavlova was, there the fire burned its brightest and fiercest.

She was a wild and tragic elf, half crazed with grief and shame, as she fled into the first scene, that of the nuptials of Alfonso and Elvira, and besought the protection of the bride's chamberlain, of whose true identity the dumb girl was unaware. Her hair hung in tatters and her dress in rags, and her eyes flamed with the story which her tongue could not tell. But she could tell it with all the eloquence of her masterly mimicry, and the audience saw her seized and overpowered and borne away to her prison; it saw her at last tossed aside like the scarf which she flung down upon the stage; and finally beheld her escape down a rope and flight across the country, sometimes in utter exhaustion, upon her hands and knees.

Utters Single Cry. As the marriage ceremony was proceeding within the chapel Fenella pushes her way through the soldiers and catches her first glimpse of the bridegroom. Her recognition of him as her betrayer was disclosed in what was perhaps the most piercing touch of Pavlova's art. From her dumb lips came words, the single sound she uttered during the play—a hoarse and horrible cry such as mutes, under the stress of emotion, can sometimes produce.

Superbly dramatic was her voiceless denunciation of the bridegroom, who, fusing in pride from the church, pushed her way through the soldiers and catches her first glimpse of the bridegroom. Her recognition of him as her betrayer was disclosed in what was perhaps the most piercing touch of Pavlova's art. From her dumb lips came words, the single sound she uttered during the play—a hoarse and horrible cry such as mutes, under the stress of emotion, can sometimes produce.

Learned of Brother's Death. Her third big opportunity came in the last act, when intelligence is brought of the death of her brother. Neither words nor music could describe despair at its fiercest, more vividly than did the mime's gestures; and with a last wild outburst of wringing hands and torn hair she ran to the lip of the crater and plunged down into its flaming abyss.

President Wilson's Fiancee When She Was a College Girl

THIS photograph of the present Mrs. Norman Galt was made about 25 years ago when she was a pupil in a little Virginia college near her home at Wytheville, Va. She was then Edith Bolling with no dreams of ever becoming mistress of the White House.

Borella, Fely Clement, as Emma; and Ferdinando Ferraresi, as Lorenzo. The honors among the singers probably went to Zenatello, Miss Lyne and Chalmers. Zenatello possesses a voice which, while lacking a shade of the resonance which would make it truly heroic, has a fine and virile quality. He handled it with supreme skill, especially in the famous barcarole, "Piu bello sovrano il giorno," a lovely melody which is the delight of all tenors; and in the slumber song, universally known as "L'Air du Sommeil," although in the latter, usually sung throughout in the use of this effect, and thereby possibly lost something of tenderness. His acting was not only highly intelligent, but was splendidly instinct with fire and passion.

Miss Lyne, a Kansas City girl, made her debut in grand opera in her native State at last night's performance, and was welcomed with enthusiastic pride by the audience. Her voice, though of light quality, is exquisitely pure and true, and is enhanced by a winsome personality and rarely lovely features. In her acting she was pathetic rather than tragic, plaintive more than despairing; but her Elvira was extremely appealing and touching.

Chalmers, with his robust voice, virile presence and somber acting, made an ideal leader of a Neapolitan mob. Ananias, Pullit and Clement made the most of their less important roles. The work of the chorus was admirable from beginning to end. Having an important part in the action, it had to act as well as sing, and it did both in this act. He had provided a setting for each of the five acts, and each time, with a fire and power which made one understand how, 85 years ago, the same music inflamed the Belgians to rise against their Dutch masters. The orchestra of 60 pieces was worthy of the remainder of the production, and was conducted by Agste Jacchia with tempestuous vigor, as befitting the stormy music it was playing.

A feature of the production which won applause by its own merits was the scenery painted by Joseph Urban, considered the greatest living master of this art. He had provided a setting for each of the five acts, and each time, with a fire and power which made one understand how, 85 years ago, the same music inflamed the Belgians to rise against their Dutch masters. The orchestra of 60 pieces was worthy of the remainder of the production, and was conducted by Agste Jacchia with tempestuous vigor, as befitting the stormy music it was playing.

NO MORE BACKACHE NO MORE MISERY

New Remedy Dissolves Impurities That Clog Kidneys and Bladder. Great Success.

Your kidneys WANT to do their work properly. It is not their fault if they don't. An eminent authority has discovered that backache, rheumatism and other forms of kidney trouble come from the formation of small acid crystals that cling to the bladder membrane. The kidneys like barbed wire. The bottom of an old ship. You can't strain these things out. The kidneys cannot get the impurities out. The kidneys are clogged with impurities. In cases of this kind a new treatment has already shown remarkable results. It is called Solvax. Solvax is a powerful, yet gentle, medicine. It works its way into every fold of the bladder membrane and dissolves the acid crystals. When Solvax starts work on the kidneys, you will feel a relief almost at once. Backaches disappear. The kidneys are freed of all clogging impurities. You suffer from any form of kidney complaint, so long as you use Solvax. It is a safe, reliable, and effective remedy. Get a new bottle of Solvax and feel the difference. It is the difference between yourself and a big pile of life. If you don't use Solvax at once, ADV.

PUBLIC TO BE TOLD WHEN PRESIDENT WILL BE MARRIED

Semi-Official Statement Made to Set at Rest Rumors of Ceremony in a Few Days.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Sometime before President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt are married a formal announcement of the date and place will be made. This was stated semi-officially today in order to set at rest unfounded reports that they might be married within a few days.

Mrs. Galt has been too busy with preparations for the forthcoming great event to see any but her most intimate friends. Mrs. Galt is eligible for membership in the D. A. R. and the Society of Colonial Dames and efforts are being made now to persuade her to become a Colonial Dame. The papers have been drawn up and Mrs. Galt's name was to have been proposed last year by Miss Gertrude Gordon, through whom she first met the acquaintance of Dr. Cary Grayson, the President's physician, and of the White House family. Miss Gordon left Washington rather suddenly and the matter was allowed to rest for another year.

Two of the President's cousins, Misses Lucy and Mary Smith of New Orleans, are guests at the White House, and are to remain until after the wedding, according to present information, and they are advancing many arguments in favor of Pass Christian, Miss., as an ideal place for a honeymoon. That the honeymoon will be spent with in a few hours' trip from Washington, and that the trip thither will be made in a motor, is the statement of some friends of the Galt family. According to these, a country house in Virginia has been placed at the President's disposal, and he has decided for reasons of sentiment, as well as for practical considerations, to spend the first weeks of his marriage in the natal State of himself and his bride.

Miss Margaret Wilson, the President's only unmarried daughter, is expected to arrive Oct. 20 from her concert tour, and will reside over the White House until after the wedding. Miss Wilson's advent and the presence of the Misses Smith will leave Miss Helen Woodrow Bones free to accept the invitation which are constantly pouring in upon her from the friends she has made in the capital. Miss Bones assisted Mrs. Franklin K. Lane at the reception at the Home Club last week and also was the guest of Secretary and Mrs. Lane when they entertained at dinner recently in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Harlan. Miss Lane is Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Bahamas Islands.

A dinner was given by President Wilson at the White House last night for Mrs. Galt, the small party including Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo, who departed today for a trip through the West.

should triumph Hellenism will be completely vanquished. The sitting of the Chamber then was adjourned until next Monday.

SEMENDRIA CAPTURED BY THE GERMANS

By Associated Press. BERLIN, via London, Oct. 12.—The Serbian city of Semendria, on the Danube, east of Belgrade, has been captured by the German army. The city was announced today that both the town and the fortress of Semendria were captured yesterday. The Austro-German forward movement over the whole Serbian front is making good progress.

RUSSIANS PIERCE GERMAN LINES

PETROGRAD, Oct. 12.—Russian forces have pierced the Austro-German lines on the Stripa River. They have already taken prisoner more than 2000 men and four big guns. The Russian advance is being pushed vigorously. The victory was won in Eastern Galicia, where the troops of Emperor Nicholas started a formidable offensive campaign against the German army. The campaign against Semendria, the city being made north of the Rumanian border and may have been undertaken with a view to the political effect on the Balkan situation. The Russians also have driven the Germans out of positions southwest of Dvinsk. In this region the fighting has been unusually severe, villages and fortified positions changing hands several times in a day.

Today's Beauty Hints

Nothing excites more criticism than a woman with her face all daubed with face powder in her desire to hide a fault or an aging skin. Instead of using powder, which clogs and enlarges the pores, it is far better to use a good face lotion that will improve and permanently benefit the skin. By dissolving four ounces of suppurax in a half pint of hot water you can make an inexpensive lotion that will do wonders as a skin whitener and complexion beautifier. It removes all skininess, sallowness and the roughness, and gives the skin a smooth, velvety tone, while it does not rub off easily like powder, nor does it show on the skin. By washing the hair with a teaspoonful of canthox dissolved in a cup of hot water, afterward rinsing thoroughly with clear water, one finds that it dries quickly and evenly, is unstreaked, bright, soft and very shiny. It is infinitely more abundant than it is and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. This simple, inexpensive shampoo cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all dandruff and dirt, and leaves a sheen, wholesome feeling. All scalp irritations will disappear. The hair will be brighter and glossier than ever before. ADV.

UNION LABOR TO BE EMPLOYED ON MUNICIPAL BRIDGE

Arbitration Board Provides That Two Superintendents Objected to by Men, Be Retained.

Members of the arbitration board appointed to hear both sides of the free bridge union labor controversy, this morning announced, after several hours devoted to hearing both the side of the union men and the city, that all non-union laborers on the bridge will be replaced by union workmen, but stated that R. N. Graham, assistant superintendent in charge of the free bridge work, and W. N. Johnson, air pressure superintendent, whose dismissals were requested by the unions, will be retained.

It is thought that this will settle the delay caused in the past few weeks by the agitation. Friction had arisen between the above two men and the union men to such an extent that an arbitration board was formed, consisting of Louis J. Haenni, vice president of the Granite Construction Co., appointed by the unions to represent them, and C. E. Smith, railway expert with the City Utilities Department, selected to represent the city. R. S. Colman of the Fruit-Corn Construction Co., was chosen by these two as third man.

Present Charges. Maurice J. Cassidy, a member of the city's Complaint Board, and secretary of the Building Trades Council, presented to the arbitration board a number of charges against the two bridge officials, and asked their dismissal on the grounds that Graham is incompetent, prejudiced against unions, and ignorant of the union's working rules; and that Johnson had never before been employed in his present capacity on such a large job, is ignorant of the technical part of the work, especially relating to air pressure, and has admitted this ignorance to laborers under him. He also charged that this ignorance endangered the lives of caisson workers.

Graham is the man who was attacked by a private watchman whom he had discharged, and who will lose the sight of one eye as a result of the conflict, according to physicians. Shortly after that he was beaten up by several men while in East St. Louis.

Union Men Satisfied. The arbitration board did not state whether they would re-employ the four steamfitters discharged after Graham attacked them. They took four hours to remove an air "header," when one man in 10 minutes could have done the job. Cassidy said that he was satisfied with the morning's proceedings, as he realized that the unions could not always get all they desired. The present board will be used again in case friction arises in the future on the bridge work.

HOUSE ROBBED BY BOY'S DECOY

Woman is Told She is Wanted on Phone at Grocery. Mrs. George W. Herring of 3623 St. Louis avenue told the police that a 12-year-old boy called at her home at noon yesterday and told her that she was wanted at a telephone at the corner grocery. She went to the store, and when she returned, after being informed that there was no message awaiting her, she found that the house had been ransacked.

Some foreign coins, 65 cents in currency and two door keys were missing. Woman Hurt in Auto Collision. Mrs. Benton Van Cleave of 5533 Waterman avenue was slightly hurt when an automobile in which she and her husband were riding with J. S. McCortney crashed into the rear of a taxicab last night with the automobile of Alexander Bjort, 5788 Kingsbury place, at De Balville and De Giverville avenues. She was thrown against a seat and bruised.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS AND CONSTIPATED

Look, mother! See if tongue is coated, breath hot or stomach sour?

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without irritating. When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! JOFFRE TELLS WHY THE FRENCH ARMY WILL NEVER CRACK

"Our Officers and Men Cannot Be Separated," He Declares to American Writer.

The French army will never crack under the pressure of German invasion. That is the keynote of a remarkable interview given by Gen. Joffre, Commander in Chief of the French army, to an American correspondent, Owen Johnson, published in this week's issue of Collier's Weekly. The correspondent interviewed Gen. Joffre at his headquarters at an unnamed place in France. The French Commander in Chief discussed the democracy of the French armies, which he declared, made every soldier a thinker capable of acting on his own initiative, and compared it with the German military system which, he asserted, made a machine of every soldier.

"Our officers," he said, discussing a concrete case, "cannot be separated from the men with whom they have fought. You will understand then why 'Mes Polus' will follow such officers anywhere."

In the final crisis, the interviewer suggested, "I should think this loyalty might be a determining factor."

Army Will Never Crack. "It will," Gen. Joffre answered. "Whatever happens, the French army will never crack. It did not in the first unequal weeks; it never will. When the day comes that the German army must retreat in the face of defeat, it is quite possible that when their theory of discipline—the discipline of fear—is placed to that final test, the result may be a rout."

"General Joffre," he said instantly, "A policy of terrorism was as coldly and calmly determined upon as the decision to violate the neutrality and break the national word of honor in the invasion of Belgium. It is the German military theory of invasion, decided upon by the German military leaders, that the way to break down the resistance of the country you are invading is to devastate it, burn its villages, shoot civilians on trumped-up pretexts, or drive them before your own troops to stop the fire of the enemy, as they did in numerous cases when the belief that human beings can be terrorized to the extent that they will prefer to surrender rather than risk the horrible results of resisting the invader."

"The proof that it was a settled policy of military tactics was that they realized that they might lose—that is, say, after the battle of the Marne—they stopped it."

"And the question of peace?" I asked. "If it is not indiscreet?"

"Peace today would be a crime," Gen. Joffre would have it toward posterity. It would only be an armistice in which every nation would continue feverishly to prepare for war. The French nation is too intelligent to deceive itself or to be deceived. We are not fighting a nation with the same ideas as our own, but a nation drunk with the idea of imperial domination, a nation which believes that in the progress of the world there is no place for little nations. The decision as to whether Europe will continue as free and individual will be made in this war alone. Either we win the right now to continue democratic and peaceful, or we surrender Europe to the imposition of an imperial idea. You will find, wherever you go, that the French people know this. You will find them absolutely of one opinion. They are prepared for anything, and they know what the issue is. We do not need to lie to our soldiers. No matter how long the war lasts, it will be fought out until we have conquered the right to leave a heritage of peace to our children."

Germany and the Lusitanians. "Gen. Joffre, with us we consider that the sinking of the Lusitania was above all things a moral and spiritual tragedy for the German race; a frightful unmaking of the extent to which a military despotism had crushed the instincts of the individual conscience. We cannot conceive that an officer could be found to obey such an order. We are free to say that were it conceivable that an American commander should receive such an order he would prefer to blow out his brains rather than to have his name soiled for all time with the memory of such assassination."

The answer he gave me was substantially the answer I had received from every public man in France: "No French Government would impose such an order, knowing that it could not be obeyed. We cannot give inhuman commands to human beings. With us the army is not the master but the servant of the nation, and the nation reposes on a public conscience which is the sum of the consciences of its soldiers; and our responsibility to that conscience is higher than any military necessity. No such order could ever be given by a French commander," he stopped and added significantly, "nor many other orders."

The correspondent repeated to Gen. Joffre the answer of a Paris working woman to the question whether her courage was strong as ever, in which she stated that the women must give courage to the men.

"Oh, our women," said Gen. Joffre. "They are sublime. No one ever knew how heroic they could be—not even themselves. There will be no flinching there. Even the mothers who have lost their sons, their only sons, will not permit us to stop now. They have made their sacrifice without complaint—only it must not be a useless sacrifice."

YOUTH DRAWING RING FROM WINDOW WITH WIRE, CAUGHT

Detectives and Store Proprietor Subdue Prisoner by Pulling His Hair.

While a young man was using a wire to drag a diamond ring from a show window on the Broadway front of W. A. Gill's jewelry store at Broadway and St. Charles street today, Gill and two city detectives watched him for half an hour. When he had hooked the ring and was pulling it from the window, they rushed out from the store and grabbed him. He put up a fight and the detectives subdued him by pulling his long black hair.

The prisoner at first refused to reveal his identity, but after being closely questioned at police headquarters he said he was Raphael Masculli, 18 years old, of 1833 North Garrison avenue.

Gill saw the young man loitering near the window about 10:30 a. m. Thinking his movements suspicious, Gill called in two detectives who were passing. Watching from inside the store, they saw the youth take a wire from under his coat and pick at the side of the window with it, dislodging some of the putty. After he was captured they examined the window and found that a hole had been drilled in the wooden framework, leaving an opening through which a ring could be passed.

GIRL HURT BY MESSENGER BOY'S BICYCLE GETS $1000

Miss Viola Locke, in Suit Against Missouri District Telegraph Co., Said She Was Made Deaf by Accident.

Miss Viola Locke, 21 years old, of 4311 McKee avenue, today, in Judge Withrow's division of the Circuit Court, was awarded $1000 damages against the Missouri District Telegraph Co. and Eugene Genall, one of its employees, for injuries sustained Nov. 19, 1913, when she was struck at Ninth and First streets by a motor cycle ridden by Genall in performance of his duty. She sued for $7500.

Miss Locke testified that she was going to the Kinloch telephone exchange at Tenth and Locust streets, where she was employed as an operator, when she was struck by the motor cycle. She said that as a result of her injury her hearing was so impaired that she could no longer work in that capacity.

The defense attempted to prove that Miss Locke's impaired hearing was a result of an accident in 1908, while working in the Johannes Bros. Shoe Co. At that time her hair became caught in some belt, resulting in complete deafness, which she claimed was the cause of the so-called "high-life." These carnivals have been conducted by the merchants themselves, who have operated the raffles in a manner which the Circuit Attorney's office held was permissible.

OKUMA'S MESSAGE ON PEACE

"No Hope of It While Nations Believe Self Superior to Others."

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—Count Okuma, Japanese Premier, in a message to the International Peace Congress read here today, voiced hope for the success of the peace movement, but not "as long as there exist nations or individuals who believe or exalt themselves as absolutely superior to others and, to assert that superiority, do not hesitate to appeal to material force."

Woman Takes Shoes Without Paying. Max Hutkin, shoe dealer, 1234 Biddle street, told the police that a woman, after buying a pair of shoes at his store last night, opened her purse and told him she had lost a $5 bill, then went outside to search for it and disappeared with the new shoes.

POLICE OBJECT TO CARNIVAL PUTTING CITY IN 'IAY' CLASS

Grand-Olive Concessions Are Professional Traps for Dimes of "City Farmers," They Say.

Evidence of the "dime-catching" graft at the misnamed Grand avenue-Olive street carnival was presented to the Circuit Attorney and Prosecuting Attorney today by the police for a ruling as to whether the raffles are "common gaming," as Police Chief Young contends, or whether the concessions are, by giving "something to everybody," are within the law. The "carnival" opened last night after the time was passed about at 6 o'clock that the police would not interfere. It had been scheduled to open Saturday night, but the police ordered that no raffles should be held and the carnival did not open. No effort was made to open Sunday night.

The carnival promoter, Benjamin Sharp, conferred with President, Members of the Police Board, Chief Young and Circuit Attorney Harvey yesterday afternoon. This conference was held after Excise Commissioner Ramsey, who favored the opening of the carnival, had conferred with Gov. Maize and after the Governor had announced he would not interfere with Chief Young's orders.

Only Nine Booths Opened. Only nine tents, or booths, were running last night, and they were somewhat scattered. Four were on Thacker avenue, near Olive street, one was on Olive street and West End place, and the others on Washington avenue, near Thacker.

The concessions sold post cards, to which numbers were placed. The numbers were placed in a hat and one drawn out. The lucky number got a baby doll, a box of candy, or whatever article was being peddled at 10 cents a chance. But each purchaser always got "something"—in most instances a tin stickpin, such as usually comes in the penny grab bag so familiar to school children.

Police attended the carnival, purchased chances and kept them for evidence. Were at St. Louis Fair. The police say the Grand-Olive concessions were at the St. Louis Agricultural Fair at Maxwell Park last year, and that they moved into the city to "catch the dimes of the city farmers." They say such a carnival, conducted by professionals who make a practice of following county fairs and circuses, tends to make a "jay town" out of a big city.

Street carnivals, like those recently held on Cherokee street, South Broadway and Grand-and-Gravois avenues, the police say, are a boon to communities where the otherwisely would be little of the so-called "high-life." These carnivals have been conducted by the merchants themselves, who have operated the raffles in a manner which the Circuit Attorney's office held was permissible.

OFFERS SCHOOL BOY ARMY

New York Man Would Train 1,000,000 Youth to Defend Nation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Ernest K. Coulter, president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and head of the Big Brother movement, has applied to Supreme Court Justice Ford for the incorporation of the National School Camp Association. Coulter says the association, purposes to call for 1,000,000 volunteers from the youth of America "to train as a United States army of defense." Also, he says, "the association will give military training to the youth of American schools, public, parochial and private." The plan is to co-operate with the army authorities and the National Guard and Governments of every state.

A PURE WHITE MINERAL OIL

Check Up Your Health Account

REAL health requires that the body eliminate its waste products regularly. Any delay in this process means that poisons accumulate and are absorbed into the blood.

If constipation is getting even a little grip on you—if you are having to resort more frequently to habit-forming laxative drugs—you are in need of Nujol.

Nujol is odorless and tasteless, absolutely neutral, and is not digested or absorbed into the system. It acts merely as a mechanical lubricant.

Nujol is not a drug. Its use will not give quick, temporary relief. But Nujol is a genuine remedy in that it relieves constipation in the most natural way by lubricating the lining of the intestines, softening the intestinal contents, and thus promoting healthy and normal bowel activity.

Write for "The Rational Treatment of Constipation," an informative treatise on constipation. If you cannot get Nujol from your druggist, we will send you a pint bottle prepaid to any point in the United States on receipt of 75c—money order or stamps.

Mrs. Verne Randall, 39 years old, of 507 Delmar boulevard, was taken to the city hospital from her home last night, suffering from what doctors diagnosed as morphinism. Her condition was said to be serious.

CARRY STOMACH JOY IN YOUR VEST POCKET

Here's a Dysentery Remedy That Is Really Guaranteed By Your Own Druggist.

One of the greatest successes in the use of medicine has been achieved by Mi-o-na, the standard dysentery remedy, and its sale is increasing so rapidly that many druggists have had to keep a stock on hand. It is very popular with bankers, ministers, lawyers and others whose business or profession keeps them closely confined, while those who have brought on indigestion through irregular eating, worry or other causes, have found relief in this reliable remedy. Mi-o-na comes in tablet form and is sold in a metal box especially designed for convenience in carrying the medicine in the pocket or purse. It is pleasant to take, gives quick relief and should help any case, no matter how long a standing. This remedy has been so uniformly successful that all druggists are authorized to sell Mi-o-na under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it should not prove entirely satisfactory. We have had a large enough percentage of cures so that it could be said in a manner. There is no time like the present to do things that ought to be done. If you have dysentery, today is the best time to begin curing it by going to your local drug store or any leading druggist in the city and buying a box of Mi-o-na on this money-back guarantee. ADV.

ST. LOUIS SOCIETY MOVIE TO BE FULL OF REEL THRILLS

Rescues in Meramec, Auto Chases and Other Dangers to Be Faced by Amateurs.

The most ambitious motion picture ever undertaken in St. Louis will be the movie melodrama, in which persons well known in local society will be the actors and the pictures for which will be taken in and near St. Louis this week by J. D. Wooster Lambert. The scenario has been finished by William W. LaBeaume, but its plot has not been made public. It will not be named until after it is shown. A prize will be offered for the best name. The movie will be in three reels and will be shown at the Victoria Theater three night in November for the benefit of the St. Louis Protestant Orphan Home.

Society to Permeate Play.

Although the participants say that the picture will not be a society-on-parade affair, it will show St. Louis society in many of its scenes.

Scenes will be laid in West End residences, the Racquet Club, a West End cafe and a church. There will be a wedding scene and a ball.

The play will be filled with thrills. There will be a polo game, a thrilling rescue on the Meramec, several good fights and automobile and horseback chases.

The leading part, that of the heroine, will be taken by Miss Mary D. Jones, daughter of Breckenridge Jones, president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co.

Lewis D. Dozier will have the part of "a top" and James T. Drummond will have the part of the heroine's father.

Mrs. W. Arthur Stickney will be a cabaret dancer. The William D. Crowell will be a count and Mrs. E. P. Hills will be a countess. Her husband also will have a part.

It is expected that Mayor Kiel will be the Mayor, and Chief of Detectives Alton will be the chief of detectives. Police Commissioners T. E. Moffitt and Samuel B. McPherson are slated to be detectives.

Two fishermen, who are also crooks, will be acted by Hayward Niedringhaus and Oliver J. Anderson. Albert Bond Lambert will be a pawnbroker and Dexter Tiffany Jr. will be a head waiter. Charles P. Pettus will be a butler and Mrs. J. D. Wooster Lambert will be a maid. Lloyd Walls, Eugene Williams and Richard S. Kennard will be waiters.

their wraps to their seats, were very much in evidence.

Last night there were many beautiful new ones, most of them velvet with great collars and cuffs of fur.

They were red, blue, old rose and gray—every shade imaginable. The most fashionable way of wearing the hair seems to be in waves, and close to the head, not all slicked back or pulled out, but soft enough to be becoming and close enough to outline the head.

They are wearing tulle scarfs again this year—some of pale shades, but mostly of white, that make the wearers look like Remney or Renolds portraits.

Mrs. Oliver L. Garrison's wrap was one of the handsomest there and was of heavy gray satin brocaded in shaded gray wisteria.

The collar and cuffs were of gray fur something like chinchilla.

In the box they always occupy were Mrs. Charles Parsons Pettus, Mrs. Pettus, with her arm in a sling. Not an ordinary first-aid-looking sling, but a broad velvet ribbon of a lovely soft shade of pink, very becoming against her white frock. She broke her arm the other day, getting out of her motor car.

With them were Mr. and Mrs. John T. Davis Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Holliday.

Miss Mary Lambert, who was with her mother, Mrs. Arthur W. Lambert in the parquette, was lovely in a pale blue silk gown and her wrap was of a pastel blue velvet with a huge collar and deep cuffs of white fox.

Mrs. Harvey G. Mudd's gown was aple green and her head was one of the most attractive in assemblage. Her hair is dark and was arranged closely. Thrust in one side, Spanish fashion, was an amber comb set with brilliants.

Miss Jane Shapleigh, the Velvet Prophet's queen, had in her box Miss Cornelia McNair, who has just returned from abroad after an interesting experience with the refugees in Switzerland, and Miss Isabella Wells, both debutantes of this season. Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Stevens, Clarence H. King, Wessell Shapleigh and Dr. Hayward Post.

Mrs. and Mrs. George W. Simmon's guests in their box were Misses Marie Church and Grace Taylor, two roomers of the buds, Boyle Rhodes and Jack Lindsay.

Mrs. August A. Busch and her two daughters, Miss Clara Busch and Mrs. Drummond Jones, made an attractive picture, looking more like sisters than mother and daughters.

Mrs. Busch wore some exquisite jewelry, a string of pearls and a long chain made of platinum set with diamonds close together.

Miss Clara had on a white frock with a lot of tulle about the top of the bodice and her evening coat was of brilliant red velvet trimmed with white fox, and made a great splash of color.

Mrs. Jones had a tulle scarf of palest blue which rose high about her ears from which her head rose as through a cloud.

Mr. Busch, Mr. Jones and Percy Orthwein completed their party.

Mr. Jacob Mahler's School for Dancing, 4011 Washington bl., opens Oct. 14.

Mrs. George S. Tiffany of 14 Lenox place and her children returned Sunday from their summer home in Dark Harbor, Me.

REPORT ON ANTI-SMOKE TESTS
Washington U. Professor to Tell Engineers' Club of Experiments.

The smoke abatement problem will be considered by the Engineers' Club at the meeting at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow. E. L. Ohle, professor of mechanical engineering at Washington University, will report on devices for smoke abatement, with particular reference to tests made at the university on two house-heating furnaces.

Smoke Inspector Hoffman will speak about recent boiler installations and tell of some results of furnace investigations.

Deaf Mute Negro Saved in Fire.
David Shepperd, a deaf and dumb negro, was overcome by smoke, while fire was destroying a greenhouse at 705 Gravois avenue, in which he had been sleeping at 1:30 this morning. A patrolman battered down the front door and with the aid of the crew of a Cherokee car carried Shepperd out to safety. The building was occupied by Otto Erich, a florist, at 459 Elcheberger avenue. His loss was estimated at $750.

"The Circular Staircase" at the New Pantages Theater.
At the Pantages Theater, Delmar boulevard, near Hamilton, on Thursday will be shown "The Circular Staircase," an entertaining five-reel photo-play that is full of mystery from start to finish. The acting in "The Circular Staircase" is said to be extremely clever and the play is one of the best features of the year. The Pantages has a wonderful Wuritzer pipe organ that combines all of the instruments of a full orchestra.

Four Hurt When Jitney Hits Pole.
Four men were injured when a jitney car collided with a telephone pole at Garrison avenue and Thomas street about 4:45 o'clock this morning. Elmo Clyne, a carpenter, of 222 St. Vincent avenue, and Thomas Labert of 3814 North Sarah street were taken to the city hospital. They had cuts and bruises on the hands and face. Herman Johnson, 24, of 101 South Fifteenth street, who operated the car, was out over the right eye.

GUARANTEES GIVEN BY CARRANZA TO PROTECT CLERGY

Correspondence of His Representative
With Pan-American
Conference Made Public.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Correspondence which passed between Eliseo Arredondo, Gen. Carranza's representative here, and Secretary Lansing and members of the Pan-American conference, relative to the protection of foreigners, amnesty, treatment of the clergy and Carranza's pledge to restore constitutional government in Mexico has become public. It reveals that Secretary Lansing asked particularly of Arredondo concerning the attitude of the Carranza Government toward the clergy. The Arredondo reply, dated Oct. 8, said:

"Complying with your excellency's request, asking me what is the attitude of the Constitutional Government in regard to the Catholic Church in Mexico, I have the honor to say that inasmuch as the re-establishment of peace within order and law is the purpose of the Government of Mr. Venustiano Carranza, to the end that all the inhabitants of Mexico, without exception, whether National or foreigners, may equally enjoy the benefits of true justice and hence take interest in co-operating to the support of the Government, the laws of reform, which guarantee individual freedom of worship, according to everyone's conscience, shall be strictly observed.

"Therefore, the Constitutional Government will respect everybody's life, property and religious beliefs without other limitation than the preservation of public order and the observance of the institutions, in accordance with the laws in force and the execution of the republic."

Letter to Conference.
The letter which Arredondo addressed to the Pan-American conference on Oct. 7, and which was the formal basis of their decision, said:

"Mr. Venustiano Carranza, depository of the executive power of Mexico, whom I have the honor to represent in this country, has authorized me to say to your excellency that his public declaration of Dec. 12, 1914, and June 11, 1915, bear the statement that the government he represents, in its capacity of a political entity, conscious of its international obligation and of its capability to comply with them, has afforded guarantees to the nationals and has done likewise with regard to foreigners and shall continue to see that their lives and property are respected in accordance with the practices established by civilized nations and the treaties in force between Mexico and other countries.

"That besides the above he will recognize and satisfy indemnities for damages caused by the revolution, which shall be settled in due time and in terms of justice."

The memorandum sets forth that Carranza, as the legally elected governor of Coahuila, when Huerta overthrew Madero, called upon all public officers in the country to repudiate Huerta's usurpation. It points out that none of Madero's cabinet members responded and, says Carranza, was constrained to assume the leadership of the movement "because it was his duty to do so as the Governor of the State of Coahuila."

"Mr. Carranza," wrote Arredondo, "is therefore, in the light of the federal constitution of Mexico the rightful successor of Francisco I. Madero in the exercise of the executive power, to the exclusion of any other public officer, because he was the one who complied with his duty according to the fundamental charter of the republic."

Reviews Military Situation.
After reviewing the separation of Gen. Villa and his forces from the authority of Gen. Carranza, Arredondo deals at length with the military situation. The Zapata faction, he says, never has been "an organized nucleus of resistance, but merely composed of marauders." Data is added to prove that "at the present time Mr. Carranza controls 24 states of the 27 which make up the republic, and the territories of Tepic and Quintana Roo, and the federal district and has established in each of them a local government."

The memorandum describes the organization of the various executive departments in Mexico City and the courts, and concludes with the various guarantees for the protection of foreigners, amnesty, treatment of the clergy, and plans for restoration of constitutional order.

It declares Carranza has an army of 150,000 men which is being carefully distributed throughout the republic so as to give effect to the guarantees.

Gen. Carranza has left Vera Cruz for Tampico on the gunboat Bravo. He will arrive there Wednesday or Thursday, when he will begin a trip through the northern states to meet Obregon and other commanders to arrange for consolidation of his forces and reconstruction of railways and communications.

Americans Said to Be in Danger in Zapata Territory.
MEXICO CITY, Oct. 12.—According to advices received here, Americans in the territory held by Emiliano Zapata are in danger. Charles B. Parker, who is in charge of American affairs here, has called for volunteer messengers to inform Americans to leave.

It is NATURAL for a Man to OWN His HOME.

Man is following the course of all nature in making proper provision for the welfare of his mate and the little ones. Man with his high ideals can do no less than the animals and the birds, who take possession and fight for the ownership of their homes. Men make their sacrifices in other ways, by a little self-denial in saving. Look over the offers in the Post-Dispatch real estate columns.

CHURCH INSTALLS GIRL USHERS

Connecticut Pastor Hopes They Will Attract Young Men to Services.
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 12.—For the first time in this State girl ushers have appeared in the Washington Park Methodist Episcopal Church here. The Rev. Everett A. Burns, the pastor, said the girls will act in that capacity every Sunday night. "I hope that the young men who might otherwise absent themselves from services will attend because of the girl ushers," he added.

The girls are from well-to-do families.

Louisville Jockey Seriously Injured.
LATONIA, Ky., Oct. 12.—Jockey Carl Gans of Louisville, Ky., was probably fatally injured at the Latonia races here yesterday. As the horses were rounding the clubhouse turn, there was a mixup, and two horses fell. Gans was picked up unconscious and rushed to a hospital, where he was reported to have little chance for recovery.

25 years of strictly high-grade tailoring at reasonable prices is proof of well-pleased patrons. Suits and overcoats, $20 and up. H. A. Heise, Pierce Bldg.

Texas in Shooting Affray Dies.
VERNON, Tex., Oct. 12.—J. G. Hall, former Wilbarger County Tax Collector, died here yesterday as a result of being wounded the night before in a mob City Secretary, surrendered to the shooting affray, in connection with police. Houston Hall was released on which his brother, Houston Hall, for bond.

For Acid Stomachs Use Magnesia

Quickly Stops Sour Burning Feeling and Makes Digestion Painless.

The almost universal use of magnesia by physicians and specialists in the treatment of stomach troubles is due to the fact that it stops food fermentation and neutralizes the acid—the direct cause of nearly all stomach troubles. Of the many forms of magnesia, such as oxides, citrates, carbonates, sulphates, etc. the most suitable and effective is the one prescribed by the specialists. It is a bland, stop fermentation and thus ensure painless normal digestion. Care should be taken to get the correct magnesia, as its action is infinitely more effective. It is also, by the way, usually stocked by druggists in convenient compressed tablets as well as in the ordinary powder form. Stomach sufferers and dyspeptics who follow this plan and avoid the use of opium, charcoal, soda, mint, drugs and medicines are invariably astonished to find that the stomach, relieved of the irritating acid, and thus regains its normal tone, and can do its work again without the harmful aid of artificial digestants.—ADY.

REED AND STONE NEAR BREAK WITH STATE OFFICIALS

Friends of Senators Say They Will Repudiate Major Administration in Campaign.

An open break between the Stone-Reed and the Major-Francis-Goltra factions in the Democratic party in Missouri, with a possible desertion of Major by Francis and Goltra, is expected by politicians at the Democratic meeting at Cape Girardeau Thursday, or the one to be held in Nevada Oct. 23.

Close friends of Senators Reed and Stone said today they finally had reached the conclusion that to carry Missouri in the next campaign for President Wilson and for Senator Reed they must appear openly as holding that the Major-Roach-Gordon-Barker administration have not represented the Democracy of the State.

They have not definitely determined just when will be the proper time publicly to make known their attitude, it is said. The Cape Girardeau meeting is considered by some of their followers to be an opportune time because of the feeling that the administration is particularly weak in Southeast Missouri.

Benton Talked of for Governor. Others, however, say that the Nevada meeting would be a better place. Those who hold this view say that it has been whispered that the Senators have given considerable thought to former Congressman Macenas E. Benton as a candidate for Governor, and that it is not improbable that Benton might then appear as a candidate with the support of the two Senators.

Benton served three terms in Congress from the Fifteenth Missouri District. He had no connection with the present administration at Jefferson City.

The Stone-Reed opposition to the administration is based on a feeling that State affairs have been so managed that there is a widespread disgust with the administration, and that any ticket which it supports will fail. Senator Reed will be a candidate for re-election and is desirous of having a strong State ticket in the field.

Senator Stone's interest lies in his friendship for Senator Reed and his desire to have the administration of President Wilson endorsed by a Democratic victory in the State.

Although the Cape Girardeau meeting is announced as a meeting of Fourteenth District Democrats, nearly all the arrangements for it have been made in St. Louis. The Senators, it is known, have discussed a suggestion that in some way Gov. Major be kept off the program of speakers. This has been thought impracticable, however, and the decision has been reached that he be made the first speaker, as he was in St. Joseph.

Want to Have Last Say. Friends of the Senators have said that there was an understanding that the Governor should not discuss State affairs at the St. Joseph meeting. He devoted his entire time to defending his administration. His friends say he feared that the suggestion that he leave State affairs alone was for the purpose of permitting Senator Stone to repudiate the administration when he spoke after the Governor.

By having the Governor speak first at Cape Girardeau the Senators will be in a better position to know what to say to further their plans. Politicians have seen some basis for their expectation of a desertion of Major by Francis and Goltra on editorials which recently have appeared in the Republic, the Democratic organ controlled by Francis. These editorials have taken the position that the negotiation, which prevails in nearly every State office, and the mismanagement of State affairs is democratic.

The Democratic City Committee met last night and discussed plans for the Cape Girardeau meeting. There were assurances by committee members that about 1500 would go from St. Louis to the meeting.

JOYRIDERS TRY TO FORCE TWO GIRLS TO RIDE WITH THEM

Lay Hands on Night School Students When Invitation is Refused But Piece at Approach of Policemen.

Four young men, taking a boisterous joy ride in a stolen automobile, stopped on Page boulevard near Sarah street last night and invited six young women who were returning from night classes at the high school to get in. When the girls refused the invitation the men got out and laid hands on two of the girls, whom they tried to persuade to get into the machine. The two girls struggled and the other four girls ran down the street, screaming for help.

When policemen approached the engine had "died," and the men, who did not have time to start the machine again, ran across a vacant lot and got away. A policeman started the machine and took the two girls to a corner near their homes. They refused to give their names and addresses. It was later found that the car had been stolen while it was standing in front of 1152 North Union boulevard at 7:30 p. m., and that it belonged to H. L. Muren of Belleville.

Quick, Safe Way to Remove Hairs

(Toilet Talk)
Keep a little delicate powder on your dressing table and when hairy growths appear, make a paste with a little of the powder and some water, apply and let remain on the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off. This treatment is quite harmless and rarely more than one application is required, but to avoid disappointment, care should be used to buy the real delicate—ADV.

CHINA AFTER PACIFIC TRAFFIC

First Vessel
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—With the formation here of the China Mail Steamship Co., China entered into competition with Japan for passenger and freight trade to the Orient.
The new company purchased from the Atlantic Transport Co. of West Virginia the steamship China, formerly operated by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. in the Orient service. Other vessels will be added, it was stated.

"AMERICA FIRST," TEST OF LOYALTY, SAYS PRESIDENT

Looks Forward to Necessity of Calling Upon Every Man to Say Where He Stands.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—A demand upon all Americans, on pain of ostracism, to be more than neutral in regard to the European war—to take their stand for America first, last and all the time—was voiced by President Wilson yesterday, in a speech at the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The United States, the President said, was not merely trying to keep out of trouble, but was trying to preserve the foundations upon which peace could be rebuilt.

Declaring his faith in the loyalty of the great body of naturalized citizens of foreign birth, the President said he believed the impression too general that a very large number of these citizens were without sufficient affection for the American ideal. "But I am in a hurry to have a lineup," he explained, "and let the men who are thinking first of other countries stand on one side and those who are for America first, last and all the time on the other side."

The President's speech was marked by frequent applause. Mrs. Norman Galt, the President's fiancée, occupied one of the boxes. He began his address by the tracing of Americanism from the time of the Revolution and spoke of the many nationalities represented in the makeup of the new country. He continued:

"It is easy to preserve tradition with continuity of blood; it is easy in a single family to remember the origins of the race and the purposes of its organization, but it is not so easy when that race is constantly being renewed and augmented from other sources, from stocks that did not carry or originate the same principles.
"So, from generation to generation, strangers have had to be indoctrinated with the principles of the American family, and the wonder and the beauty of it all has been that the infection has been so generously easy. For the principles of liberty are united with the principles of hope. Every individual, as well as every nation, wishes to realize the best thing that is in him, the best thing that can be conceived out of the materials of which his spirit is constructed. It has happened in a way that I think fascinates the imagination, that we have not only been augmented by additions from outside, but that we have been greatly stimulated by those additions."
The President said that the thought of liberty had drawn the thousands from their old homes and that the thought of America as holding out the hope of liberty had spread to men of all races. He added:

"Now we have come to a time of special stress and test. There never was a time when we needed more clearly to conserve the principles of our own patriotism than at this present time. The rest of the world from which our policies were drawn seems for the time in the crucible and no man can predict what will come out of that crucible.
"We stand apart unembroidered, conscious of our own principles, conscious of what we hope and purpose so far as our powers permit for the world at large, and it is necessary that we should consolidate the American principle.
"There have been some among us who have not thought first of America; who have thought to use the might of America in some matter not of America's interest, and they have forgotten that the first duty of a nation is to express its principles in the action of the family of nations and not to seek to aid and abet any rival or contrary ideal."

The President said that America feels more than "neutrality," and he said: "The heart of the nation throbs with widespread sympathy for all the nations at war. He continued:

"We are not trying to keep out of trouble; we are trying to preserve the foundations upon which peace can be rebuilt. Peace can be rebuilt only upon the ancient and accepted principles of international law; only upon those things which remind nations of their duties to each other, and deeper than that, of their duties to mankind and to humanity."

"I look forward to the necessity in every political agitation in the years which are immediately at hand of calling upon every man to declare himself, where he stands. Is it America first, or is it not?"

"We ought to be very careful about some of the impressions that we are forming just now. There is too general an impression, I fear, that very large numbers of our fellow citizens born in other lands have not entertained with sufficient intensity and affection the American ideal; but their numbers are not large. Those who would seek to represent them are very vocal, but they are not very influential."

Much of the best citizenship in America has been built up by men and women from other countries, the President said. He added:

"I am not deceived as to the balance of opinion among the foreign-born citizens of the United States, but I am in a hurry to have an opportunity to have a lineup and let the men who are thinking first of other countries stand on one side—biblically it should be the left—and all those that are for America, first, last and all the time, on the other side."

The President said that the formation of proper public opinion is the great thing to be achieved today, and concluded his address by saying:

"I would not feel any exhilaration in belonging to America if I did not feel that she was something more than a rich and powerful nation. I should not feel proud to be in some respect and for a little while her spokesman if I did not believe that there was something else than physical force behind her. I believe that the story of America is that she is a great spiritual creation and that in the spirit of her institutions dwells not only her distinction, but her power, and that the one thing that the world cannot permanently resist is the moral force of great and triumphant convictions."

PRESIDENT GIVING FINAL TOUCHES TO NOTE TO BRITAIN

Protest Against Interference With Trade Will Go Forward in a Few Days.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Final touches are being given by President Wilson to a long note to be sent to Great Britain in a few days voicing the disapproval of the United States of British interference with American trade through the various orders in council.

The communication, long delayed because the President did not wish to mix the American Government's controversy with Germany with the case against Great Britain, practically is complete. No obstacle to its dispatch is evident now, since the submarine dispute with Berlin is considered virtually settled.

Officials guarded with secrecy the contents of the note, but it is known to be firmly vigorous in its tone. The treatment by Great Britain of cotton, which has been declared contraband, and the actual operations of the orders in council are discussed at great length. In official quarters it is stated that the note is not an academic argument on the principles of the subject, but a protest which the American Government intends to press constantly in order that modifications of an alleged illegal practice may be obtained.

For the present the administration will defer any special representations on the complaint of the Chicago packers against British confiscation and detentions.

Britain Did Not Ask for Recall of Consul-General Skinner.
LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Post-Dispatch correspondent was informed.

an official quarter tonight that the British Government had not requested, or even suggested the recall of Consul-General Skinner. This statement was made to put a quietus on reports from America intimating that he had become persona non grata.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

A Treacherous Trouble
St. Louis People Point the Way Out.
Kidney diseases are very dangerous. They come on silently, gain ground rapidly, and cause thousands of deaths that could have been prevented by proper treatment in the beginning. Nature gives early warnings of kidney disease—backache, twinges of pain when stooping or lifting, headaches and kindred disorders. If these symptoms are unheeded, there is grave danger of dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills have earned a reputation for their effectiveness in kidney troubles, and are known and recommended the world over. St. Louis testimony proves the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills.

William Miller, police officer, 3046 Magazine st., St. Louis, says: "I had some trouble with my back, due to a cold, but Doan's Kidney Pills quickly freed me from it. If the kidneys are out of order and backaches and pains in the loins follow, this medicine gives quick relief. The kidneys are strengthened and the pains and aches become a thing of the past. That has been my experience."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Miller had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Weak Stomachs
Systems weakened by improper nourishment through weak stomachs susceptible to disease.
The lowered vitality resulting from a weak stomach which fails to properly digest food and repair the constantly wearing out tissues is unable to properly cope with the attacks from disease germs to which the human organism is always subjected.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey
has proved to be a valuable aid in restoring digestion to the weakened, deranged stomach. Many doctors rely upon it in cases of this kind because they have proved its efficacy. Better health awaits you, if you take Duffy's in tablespoonful doses as directed.
Sold by most druggists, grocers and dealers at $1.00 a bottle. If they can't supply you, write us. Useful medical booklet free.

HOW DESTROYERS AND SEA-PLANES OF BRITISH FLEET HUNT SUBMARINES

Aviators Can See U-Boats Even When Submerged and Signal to Water-Craft—Mother Ship Formerly Was Atlantic Liner.

Correspondence of the Associated Press. LONDON, Sept. 23.—Strangest looking of all the ships with the British grand fleet is the Atlantic liner which has been transformed into a mother-ship for the seaplanes. There are platforms to place of the promenades where passengers used to lounge, bombs in place of deck-quotas, and the dining saloons have been fitted up as workshops. Everything that a seaplane needs in the way of repairs can be supplied.

"Here is our assortment of bombs," said an officer, showing an exhibit of different sizes on a shelf. "That one weighs a hundred pounds, the same as a six-inch shell."

"What do you use them on?" he was asked.

"Anything, from a German cruiser, if we get a chance at one, to a submarine. That big bomb would finish a Zeppelin, too."

A crane that once had taken passengers' trunks out of the hold lifted a seaplane off a platform and deposited it on the water, where it bounced on the waves before the motor was started and it skimmed across the surface for a hundred yards or more, rose, circled around the fleet two or three times, and then disappeared out at sea. With its floats it looked clumsy beside an aeroplane—the difference between a duck and a hawk.

Most of the romance and the action of sea warfare while the British grand fleet waits for the German fleet to come out are the seaplanes and the destroyers. The dreadnoughts remain in harbor, except for occasional cruises into the North Sea; but the planes and the destroyers are always on the move. They work together in hunting "Frits," as British officers and men universally refer to submarines.

Game of Hide and Seek.

A submarine is visible to an aviator when it is cruising below the surface. It never travels deeper than 20 or 40 feet and leaves a characteristic ripple and air bubbles and streaks of oil. When a plane has located a submarine it signals the hunters where to go. But before they arrive a signal may have hidden the track. A submarine may be known to be in a certain region and be lost and seen and lost and seen again. Submarine hunting is a tireless game of hide and seek. Naval ingenuity has invented no end of methods of location and of destruction. Experiment has proved some to be efficient and some useless. Strictest kept of naval secrets these.

Very thin the skin of a submarine and very fragile and complicated its machinery. It does not take much of a shock to put it out of order or a large cargo of explosives to dent that skin beyond repair.

"The difficulty is to know when you get them," an officer explained; for it is in the nature of the submarine to sink, whether vitally injured or not. It may have gone to the bottom to stay in 50 fathoms of water, or it may have submerged under a choppy sea and made its escape. We have been hunting them for a year, now, and no doubt we are getting the better of them. We have not only learned how to keep them off from our great ships, but how to destroy them."

If oil and bubbles come up for a long time in one place or if they come up with a rush, that is considered fairly good evidence of success. There is no escape for the crew. They cannot make the submarine rise or get out of it. It becomes a steel casket in a watery grave. No nautical mind is required to realize that by casting about on the bottom with a grapnel you will learn if an object with the bulk and size of a submarine is there; and the "death" of submarines is established in this way.

"The Admiralty will not accept any guesswork about it," said an officer. "We may have put an explosive right into one or rammed it in a way that must have broken its back; but that is not proof enough. The record goes down on the chart as 'supposed destroyed.'"

Traps Set for "Frits."

With Admiral Crawford, the correspondent of the Associated Press went to see the submarine defenses of a harbor. Cruisers and destroyers and auxiliaries were going and coming, but the narrow openings through which they passed were closed instantly they were by. There was more than one obstruction. If a submarine got past the first or the second, it was in a pocket. Several have been caught in this way.

"Take care! There is a tide here!" the coxswain of the Admiral's barge was warned. "We don't want to get caught in a trap meant for Fritz."

At one naval base the correspondent saw a number of destroyers lying moored to a quay as close together as fish in a basket. They had just come in from a tour at sea.

"Here today and gone tomorrow," said an officer. "What a time they had last winter. And they are in for another winter of it. You know how cold the North Sea is—no, you cannot unless you have been out in a torpedo boat dancing the tango in the teeth of that bitter wind, with the spray whipping up to the top of the smokestacks. In the dead of night they would come into this pitch-dark harbor. How they found their way is past me. It's a trick of those young fellows who command."

ISSUES TO PREVENT LOAN OF INSURANCE FUNDS TO ALLIES

Chicago Woman Who Holds
$2000 Policy Brings Action
Against Mutual Life Company.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—The $200,000,000 loan to Great Britain and France is attacked in a suit filed in the Federal Court by Olga H. S. Walsh, who asks for an injunction to restrain the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York from investing $100,000,000 of its trust funds in the loan. Mrs. Walsh holds a $200 insurance policy in the Mutual Life Insurance company, Charles A. Peabody, its president; the directors, members of the Anglo-French Credit Loan Commission, J. P. Morgan individually and J. P. Morgan & Co. were named as defendants. Frank S. Monnett, former Attorney-General of Ohio, acted as attorney for the plaintiff.

The complaint, which was filed by Mrs. Walsh in person, who asked for an injunction to restrain the Mutual Life Insurance Co. from investing its trust funds in the loan, is among the thousands of policy holders in the Mutual Life Insurance Co. are many persons of various nationalities and that the investment of trust funds of the policy in the Anglo-French loan would tend to produce antagonisms among the policy holders which might lead to disrupting the company and thereby depreciate the value of her interest in the company.

Mrs. Walsh is the wife of Burton T. Walsh, a foreman, formerly of Elyria, O., a long-time acquaintance of Attorney Monnett, who admitted that German-American interests were back of the suit.

"Chicago was selected as the place for filing the suit because Mrs. Walsh lives here," Attorney Monnett said. "I have known her husband for 20 years and he asked me to come here and handle the matter for her. She was selected as the complainant because the character of her policy cannot be attacked. There are other interests, German-American and Austro-American, back of it, but I am not at liberty to give any names."

The bill asks that the officers of the company be restrained from investing its trust funds in the loan or suffering any of its assets to be used for the purpose of aiding the manufacture of munitions of war, aeroplanes, submarines, any naval outfit or appliances to be used by the English or French nations for belligerent purposes. It further asks that J. P. Morgan and J. P. Morgan & Co. be restrained from soliciting or conniving with the officers and directors of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. for the purpose of procuring any of its funds directly or indirectly to be invested in the loan. A similar rule of court is petitioned for against the members of the Anglo-French Loan Commission.

The investment in the foreign loan is alleged to be contrary to the statutes. One of the salient paragraphs of the bill alleges that Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. and George F. Baker, one of its directors, on Sept. 11, 1914, met secretly at "one of the selected rendezvous of J. P. Morgan and the Anglo-French commission" and have met with them on other dates, since the pledging the support of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. directly or indirectly.

The bill contains a list of the trust companies, banks and surety companies that hold the securities of the Mutual Life company and the Court is asked to make the injunctive order broad enough to prevent these companies from investing Mutual Life Insurance funds in the loan.

German Policy holders.
The bill alleges that 22 per cent of the policy holders of the company are Germans or German-Americans; in the list of interrogatories Charles A. Peabody and George F. Baker are asked to tell what was the purpose of their alleged meeting with J. P. Morgan and other financiers, whether it was for the purpose of arranging to float the Anglo-French loan and, if so, what steps were taken.

The members of the Anglo-French Commission are asked to give their authority for negotiating the loan and also to disclose whether Mr. Peabody and Mr. Baker or other agents of the Mutual Life company have pledged themselves to participate in the loan.

No Intention to Invest Over $2,000,000 in Bonds, Says Peabody.
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, when advised of the suit brought by Mrs. Walsh, said:

"We have never thought of investing any sum like $100,000,000 in Anglo-French bonds. In fact we have not yet invested a penny in them. The matter is under consideration, however, and it might be that we would decide to take $2,000,000 of $5,000 of the bonds, as they doubtless are a good investment. However, it would be entirely lawful for us to invest $100,000,000 or any other sum in the bonds, within reason, if we saw fit to do so. There is nothing in the law to prevent our doing so without limit, as our company does business both in France and England. New York insurance companies doing business in these countries are permitted to buy their Government bonds."

KANSAS 'MOVIE' CENSOR MAKES WAR ON FILM 'BOOTLEGGERS'

He Alleges Doubtful Pictures Are Not Submitted to Him, but Bear Fake Stamps.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 12.—Movie firm "bootleggers" are now causing trouble in prohibition Kansas. No, the films have nothing to do with relieving the dryness, but the official censor, W. D. Ross, alleges certain firms are sneaking them into the state and showing them after he has rejected them, or before he has seen them.

He's going to stop it, too, he says. So he has asked Attorney-General Brewster to notify all County Attorneys to prosecute moving picture theater proprietors who show films not properly approved. And to facilitate this the censor will furnish them with lists of all films passed.

Ross has been told that when the film-makers have a picture they are afraid will be barred they take a naproval notice from the end of an old film and paste it on the doubtful one and then show it without submitting it to him. It is reported that the picture, "Infatuation," which he barred a week ago, has been shown in this manner in Sterling, Kan.

For a Bad Cough

Here is a fine old-fashioned recipe for coughs, colds or asthma trouble that has been used for many years with great success. Get from your druggist 1 oz. of Eucalypti (Double Strength) and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

No more racking your whole body with a cough. Clogged nostrils should open, air passages of your head clear up so you can breathe freely. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has a chronic cough, or hard cold or asthma in any form, should give this prescription a trial. —ADY.

B. M. L. HOPES TO BRING NATIONAL CONVENTIONS HERE

Republican Meeting Not to Be Put on "Auction Block," James E. Smith Reports.

The Business Men's League, proceeding with plans for getting the Democratic or Republican national convention for St. Louis next year, is hopeful of securing one for this city. The league is working on the plan that it will be necessary to guarantee the expenses of the Republican convention, and to raise probably $100,000 for the Democratic National Committee to get the Democratic convention.

James E. Smith, former president of the league, has returned from a visit to New York, where he consulted George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, relative to holding the convention in St. Louis, and saw several Democratic leaders.

Smith reported that the Republican National Committee, which determines where the convention shall be held, was not going to put the convention on the "auction block." Chicago, which gets most of the Republican conventions, merely guarantees the committee that it will pay the legitimate expenses of the convention, such as providing a national hall, headquarters for the national committee and other incidentals. The expenses of the convention are not usually in excess of $50,000, but Chicago makes a pledge to pay the expenses up to $100,000.

The Democratic National Committee, from reports received by the league, would like to get a pledge of not less than $100,000, and more, if possible. Baltimore paid $100,000 for the 1912 Democratic convention, for which St. Louis offered $85,000. It is understood that Baltimore will not be a contender for the 1916 convention, but several small cities, including Dallas, Tex., are trying to get it, and are trying to raise a fund of at least $100,000.

It is the general impression among political leaders that the Republican convention will be more desirable, as an attraction for a city, than the Democratic convention.

The opinion prevails that the Democratic convention will renominate President Wilson, without opposition, and that the convention will not last more than three days. There is likely to be a big fight in the Republican convention for the nomination, as there are now many candidates, active and prospective. In the event of a deadlock the convention might last for a week or longer.

Smith said that he believed St. Louis and Chicago would be the only two cities seriously considered by the national committees. He thinks St. Louis is certain to get one of the conventions, if not both.

The Republican National Committee will meet in Washington in December to decide on the time and place of holding the Republican convention, and the Democratic Committee will meet in Washington in January. The league is preparing to send strong delegations to both meetings to represent the interests of St. Louis. Letters received by the league from the committees of both parties indicates that a majority of the members of the two organizations are not pledged to any city. Many of the committees have indicated a first choice for St. Louis, and some others, who would prefer another city for local reasons, have expressed a second choice for St. Louis.

UNION ELECTRIC WILLING TO SELL PLANT TO CITY

Vice President Einstein Says Owners Would Prefer Sale to Municipal Competition.

A. C. Einstein, vice president and general manager of the Union Electric Light and Power Co., told a Post-Dispatch reporter this morning that the North American Co., the principal owner of the Union Electric, would sell its plant to the city at a reasonable price rather than have the city build a plant to compete with it.

The statement was made after Einstein had appeared before a committee of members of the Board of Aldermen, appointed to consider the subject of a municipal lighting plant.

At the hearing Einstein was questioned about earnings. He said there had been a general decline in residence rates since 1911. That year the average rate for residence lighting was 11.46 cents per kilowatt hour. In 1914 it was 7.87 cents, he said.

He said the gross operating revenue of the company in 1911 was $2,121,228, and in 1914 it was $2,331,392.

Changes in Power Contract. Chairman Schwartz of the committee said he had obtained from Einstein a copy of the Union Electric's contract with the Mississippi River Power Distributing Co. for Keokuk dam power. He said he understood there had been modifying agreements since the contract was made and that he would ask for these when Einstein appears again before the committee on Monday.

It developed in Einstein's testimony that last year the Union Electric received $116,876 from the United Railways Co. for power which cost it $412,164. This is not included in the operating revenue, but for some unexplained reason is considered as non-operating revenue.

In his statement to a Post-Dispatch reporter Einstein said that if the Union Electric sold to the city it should receive a reasonable amount for good will in addition to the present physical valuation of the plant.

Price Not Named. He said that he was satisfied that it would cost the city at least $30,000,000 to duplicate the Union Electric's plant, but that he was not prepared to say the company would ask the city to pay $30,000,000 for its plant.

He said he did not consider the old St. Louis Public Service Commission's valuation of $16,000,000 placed on the plant a fair valuation.

Einstein said the Union Electric had outstanding bonds to the amount of $15,000,000, which had an interest rate averaging about 5 per cent, and stock to the amount of $9,855,000 which this year would pay a dividend of about 5 per cent.

"The reason we would sell to the city," he said, "is that if the city decides for a municipal plant, we would prefer to sell. A competing plant probably would mean that at least one, or possibly both plants would not pay."

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE, SAFE AND RELIABLE WAY.

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps digestion and is designed to consume the excessive fatty tissue by increasing the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. Even a few days' treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight. Fastenets become lighter, your work seems easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial. There is nothing better.—ADY.

LITTLE GIRLS HELP MILK FUND

Five little girls in the Compton Heights Sunday School, known as the G. W. class, have turned their penny savings of the past summer into the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. The amount was $1.62. They delayed the contribution until the summer season had definitely closed in order that the sum might be the larger.

MAN OUT OF WORK SHOTS SELF

Henry Weiss, 33 years old, of 914 North Tenth street, shot himself in the right temple at 1:30 o'clock this morning. He was taken to the city hospital in a critical condition. A note found in his pocket directed that his wife, Mrs. Henry Weiss of 211 Cottonwood street, San Antonio, Tex., be notified.

Mrs. Anna Stone, at whose home Weiss resided, told the police that Weiss had been out of employment for two weeks.

This Outfit Consists of

A massive "Divan-Bed" Davenport, Arm Rocker, Arm Chair, Reception Chair, Library Table and Art Lamp—the complete furnishing for your front room—all of a class and character that will please the most particular.

Built of Solid Oak

All of these pieces of furniture are massive and beautiful in design—made of solid oak in beautiful turned oak—the latest finish that harmonizes well with any style of decoration.

All Richly Upholstered

Both the back and seats of the Divan-Bed Davenport Chairs and Rockers are handsomely upholstered in imitation Spanish leather—the seats have cushion springs on steel supports—so the upholstery can never sink or sag.

More Than a Parlor Set

The Davenport is made on an entirely new principle and can be instantly converted into a bed at night—the bedding can remain under the seat and comes into position when the seat is turned—has a set of comfortable bed springs which make it unusually restful.

Library Table and Art Lamp

The Library Table matches the balance of this outfit—it is in Mission design, and has magazine and book rack underneath, as shown in the illustration. The Art Lamp has leaded-glass shade and is fitted for gas or electricity.

Entire Outfit for $47.50

We know, positively, that if you priced these pieces separately almost anywhere else, they would come to $85.00 or $70.00—so you can see, what an unusual value we offer at $47.50, and the terms of payment are equally pleasing.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Crone and His Victims.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I read in Friday's issue of your paper the article on the Crone parole, to the effect that Lawyer Bohnenkamp was seeking to help some of the poor creatures of misplaced confidence in Crone.
I am not interested either financially or sentimentally in Crone's parole. I believe that Crone should be punished to the full extent for what he has done, if it was a question of him alone.
I was touched by reading the case of Mrs. Franke and was impressed with the idea the public was doing, and would do, nothing to relieve her pitiful condition. I realize that if it was simply the idea of what punishment Crone deserved for robbing these poor women, I would say he deserves life imprisonment, if not hanging, but when I consider the particular aspect of the case, I am frankly of the opinion that he should be paroled in order that these poor victims of his can get their old-age savings. Mrs. Franke's case has brought home forcibly to me the fact that my satisfaction in seeing how the law vindicated and inflicted extreme punishment on Crone is not going to help her, or those cases equally pitiful.
It seems to me that justice would mislead if it is going to punish all these poor people for the sake of satisfying their just indignation against Crone.
LOUIS McGRANAHAN.

Overworked School Children.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Having five children attending the public schools, two at high school, I feel I am in position to judge, and have come to the conclusion things are being overdone, particularly at the high schools. It seems the superintendent, also the teacher are over zealous, of course this is to their credit, but not beneficial to the scholars' health. I find not only mine but other children are overworked, worn out and year by year more studies are given them. Have other parents noticed this? Education is a good thing, but

HEALTH FIRST.

Against Compulsory Vaccination.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The officers and members of the St. Louis Assembly Woman's Republic, Missouri Division, have entered a vigorous protest against the arbitrary ruling of the Board of Education making the vaccination of school children compulsory. We have asked for a hearing on this vital question. We must denounce the idea that a healthy person is a menace to anybody. We must see that our children's education is not predicated on the point of the poisoned quill. We must see to it that subcutaneous injection of an absolute poison does not take the place of sanitation and hygiene.
The children will see the Liberty Bell in November. This ancient relic bore the inscription "Proclaim Liberty Throughout All the Land, Unto All the Inhabitants thereof." The National Relic—shall it come to a city under bondage to compulsory vaccination? A MEMBER.

Vandals at Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
After many months of close observation we have come to the unalterable conclusion that this city is cursed by vandals who give vent to their makeup by sawing, or placing broken or ground glass on the popular automobile thoroughfares, such as Pine street, Lindell boulevard and the park drives.
Today we observed it on Chestnut street all the way between Jefferson and Grand avenues, at intervals of about 150 feet, in quantities from a handful to a pint, about the size of grains of corn. Have also observed it on much-used county roads.

We are writing to you, Mr. Editor, to try and reuse the auto owners of this city to be on the lookout for these miscreants with the view of bringing them to justice.
We have often wondered how this glass escapes the attention of the street cleaners and the police.

AUTO OWNERS.

Reasons for Preparedness.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
It would seem after 14 months of war that the Entente Powers are further off from victory than ever. The United States should no longer follow a system of unpreparedness if it would keep up with progress. A thoroughly trained citizen soldiery drilled three hours per night three nights weekly with pay of 50 cents per night, with compulsory service, would put a lot of money in circulation as well as help the boys that are out of work, and a military college in each congressional district for officers, a first-class artillery service, with the merchants and manufacturers working hand in hand with the military organizations, instead of against it, we should be able to take care of ourselves.

AMERICAN.

MEXICO'S RECORD OF ANARCHY.

President Wilson has approved Secretary Lansing's recommendation that the Carranza Government in Mexico shall be given official recognition by this country as a de facto Government.

With this important step taken, efforts on our part to strengthen Carranza's hands will not be half-hearted. Shipment of arms and all military supplies from this country to those who oppose his rule will be forbidden, at least until Carranza has had full opportunity to restore order. On the other hand, the de facto Cabinet with enlarged credit at financial centers can provide itself with ample facilities for putting down insurrection.

Thus, the hope for peace and security in Mexico is greater than any given since 1910. Five years ago now Francisco I. Madero had just been released from the penitentiary where he had been sent after his arrest at Monterey, June 27, 1910, on a trumped-up charge later changed to an accusation of libel against Juan O'Neil.

On Oct. 15, 1910, he issued his famous "Plan of San Luis Potosi" and conditions began to be alarming. He had previously prepared Mexican sentiment for his undertaking by publishing his "Presidential Succession in 1910," denouncing Diaz, and organizing throughout the republic branches of his Club Democratico Benito Juarez.

The Madero rebellion was actively begun on Nov. 20, 1910, and a few days later Madero himself crossed from Texas into Chihuahua to lead the war.

On Nov. 30, 1910, Diaz, with Ramon Corral as Vice President, was inaugurated for his eighth presidential term. In January, 1911, United States troops were sent to the Mexican border, which with short intervals has been the rendezvous of a large fraction of the American army ever since. By March 7, 1911, more than 20,000 American troops had been collected at points adjacent to Mexican territory.

This is only one phase of the enormous inconvenience and cost of the Mexican troubles to this country. The loss due to interruption of exchanges between the two republics and from injury to American-owned property in Mexico is incalculable. By June, 1911, more than 500 claims for damage had been filed at Washington.

On May 25, 1911, Diaz resigned and fled to Spain and De la Barra became provisional President. Madero was inaugurated constitutional President on Nov. 6, 1911, and was assassinated Feb. 23, 1913, in a Cientifico plot in which Huerta was chief.

Six weeks before his abdication Diaz, by urging on the Mexican Congress the division of large estates, the ineffectibility of presidents to succeed themselves, judicial, suffrage and other reforms, had admitted the great need for these betterments. Huerta made similar professions of reform, but was likewise not trusted.

On April 21, 1914, the United States seized Vera Cruz. Four days later the first A. B. C. conference began. On July 15, 1914, Huerta resigned and fled. On Sept. 23 following, Villa, who had not been invited to ride with Carranza when he made his triumphal entry into Mexico City, Aug. 15, declared war on Carranza.

The unrest which Madero's election and again Huerta's departure was supposed to end has been continuous during 1912, 1913, 1914 and 1915. Once when Paredon was captured 32 of the defeated officers were executed; 16 were shot after Mazatlan capitulated. Executions in Chihuahua City numbered 140 in one month and 16 in one week at Mexico City. Friction, first caused at Agua Prieta and Douglas by Mexicans who fired across the line in April, 1911, has been constant since.

For a parallel to this record of anarchy adjacent to a civilized, orderly, peace-loving country, one would have to go back a good many years either in Latin-America, or other history. With Mexico fallen to the status of a public nuisance our forbearance has been both admirable and amazing.

The choice among rival leaders is small. In selecting the one to be given our support, his qualities are not to be scrutinized too closely. It is enough if the sincerity of his attachment to indispensable reforms, the armed forces at his disposal and the capacity he has developed for civil as well as military administration seem to identify him in the Mexican chaos as a point from which the re-establishment of organized government may advantageously proceed.

Old Missouri River must be chuckling over the Panama Canal's land operations.

EFFICIENCY AND PARKWAYS.

Mayor Kiel declares that Chairman Rogers of the Efficiency Board was responsible for the lack of success of the parkway plan. The defeat of that improvement was a setback to St. Louis progress, but if one of its lessons tends to convince the petty bosses that the old spoils system is smashed forever in this city, it is not wholly to be regretted. The spoils system is a much greater handicap to municipal progress than parkway defeat.

The probabilities are that Rogers had nothing to do with parkway defeat and that spoilsmen were naturally inclined to support rather than oppose the project because of the new jobs it might furnish.

An unmistakable nepotism plank in all Missouri platforms is now an imperative demand.

LESSONS OF WAR GAMES.

More proof of the weakness of both our Navy and Coast Defense comes from the war game just ended. The result announced is that the hostile fleet escorting a large expeditionary force of troops was free to enter Delaware Bay and attack Philadelphia.

A few months ago a similar game ended with the same result. That time the landing was made in Chesapeake Bay in a position to attack Washington.

Both of these war games demonstrated the great necessity of speed. The home fleet in each case failed definitely to locate the enemy, owing to a lack of fast scout vessels and swift battle cruisers.

When twice within one summer we demonstrate to ourselves our inability to defend our coast against an enemy, it is high time to act. These practical lessons should certainly disillusion us of the fatuous ideas we have been so prone to nurse that our safety lay in our isolation. That might have been true in the time of sail, but steam and electricity have annihilated space. Through their agencies the oceans are yearly shrinking.

That we require an adequate army is unquestionable, but our supreme effort should be on the outer line, beyond the shore. The soldier who does not land can do no damage.

Our geographical position is such that the Navy must ever be our first resort, the Army our last.

It is to be hoped Congress will study these war games with profit.

IS AUDITOR GORDON WRONG?

Affirming that he believes the withdrawal of funds from the State Treasury for the Utah trip of Auditor Gordon and his son, Prosecuting Attorney Peters of Cole County does well to raise the issue of the legality of the transaction.

The question of the legality of practices by office holders in Jefferson City which have shamed the State should be brought to test in court whenever there is a basis for action. Not one should be left untested and resting on the opinion of officers who are standing together for common purposes inimical to public interest.

The looting of the Public School fund to cover a deficiency was approved by the official combine at the State capitol, including the Attorney-General, until public attention was called to the act and its shadowy legal basis. The Attorney-General then revised his opinion and official support of the transaction vanished.

If, however, Mr. Peters believes the law has been violated why does he not proceed to enforce its penalties? Why does he merely ask for restitution and threaten legal action? Restitution on the part of Auditor Gordon and his son would be in effect a confession of wrongdoing, but the law would not be satisfied. Whenever there is law to protect the public interest from personal and private interest and official wrongdoing it should be rigorously enforced. Mr. Peters should proceed with his legal action.

THE BALKAN SCAPEGOAT.

Allied diplomacy having failed in the Balkans, it is easy to point out where it might have been more resourceful. Foreign Secretary Grey is made the target of ill-natured attack in a part of the London press. He is abused as a blunderer as wholeheartedly as he was praised when Italy was persuaded to join the allies.

But it is the military arm that is to be blamed, not the civil arm, which was set an almost impossible task. If the allies had taken Constantinople or even had made substantial progress on Gallipoli, volatile crowds would now be cheering the allies at every Balkan capital. But the statecraft of a Bismarck or a Metetrnich would fizzle with the despised Turks outdoing Plevna along the Dardanelles.

If the London press demands a scapegoat it should look for one among the uniformed gentlemen who wear stars on their shoulder straps.

THE STEWARD OF THE VIRTUES.

Appropos of himself John D. Rockefeller Jr. remarks: "Whatever I am or maybe I owe to my sainted mother and my honored father."

This is handsome of the young man, considering how much he credits them with. Magnanimity and humility are noble virtues, attributes of true greatness. Young John D. is just as proud of what his parents have made of him as though he were a self-made man. His might be called a sort of parental pride in himself—thus a pride which is only a commendable modesty on his part.

Great virtue might be marred by vanity, whereas modesty enhances it. Great virtue is also adorned by a becoming seriousness. We should hate to see so much virtue as young John's take itself lightly. Young John has almost a monopoly of the Christian virtues, and there is no law to prevent him from getting them all. But while he demonstrates that beautiful and exemplary character is a luxury possible only to the very, very wealthy, nevertheless he shows a worthy sense of the responsibility of his wondrous possessions. Evidently he is going to be a steward of character for the rest of us and hold it in trust, as it were. For our part we are glad to have our virtue in such responsible safe-keeping, asking only to be allowed to retain our sense of proportions and preserve our funny-bone intact.

When the nations get together after the war, they should contrive to place their peace treaties on some durable metal. No more scraps of paper.

FUTURE POLITICAL BOSSES.

Can it be? The "Good Book" tells us how woman tempted man to eat of the forbidden fruit. Is it possible she is also guilty of initiating him in the nefarious art of stuffing the ballot?

Under the signature of "A College Woman," in a letter published by the New York Times, the startling statement is made that woman's suffrage was tried and abandoned as a failure in New Jersey more than a hundred years ago. By the Constitution of 1787, New Jersey granted the ballot to single women and widows. The writer goes on to relate how about this time great rivalry existed between two towns in the County of Essex in this State. The question of the location of a courthouse roused this feeling to so high a pitch that it was deemed expedient to decide the matter by a vote of the county. At this election the illegality practiced by the women, some voting as many as six times, was so flagrant that the Legislature, at its next session, rescinded their suffrage.

We are inclined to think this accusation, mere obloquy, but if it is true, it shows marvelous perspicacity. If at that early age women evinced such advanced ideas in practical politics, their possibilities today would be unlimited. Brains so fertile in invention would soon relegate men to back seats, proving them mere neophytes in the art of government, or, at best, poor ana-

THE CANVAS BACK.

SHY canvas back, what crystal lake,
Hidden by reeds and reddening sedge,
Invites your travel-loving drake
To linger by its frosted edge?
Have you forgotten Chesapeake Bay,
Those luscious flats of Maryland,
Or do you trifle days away
And scorn a journey long fore-planned?

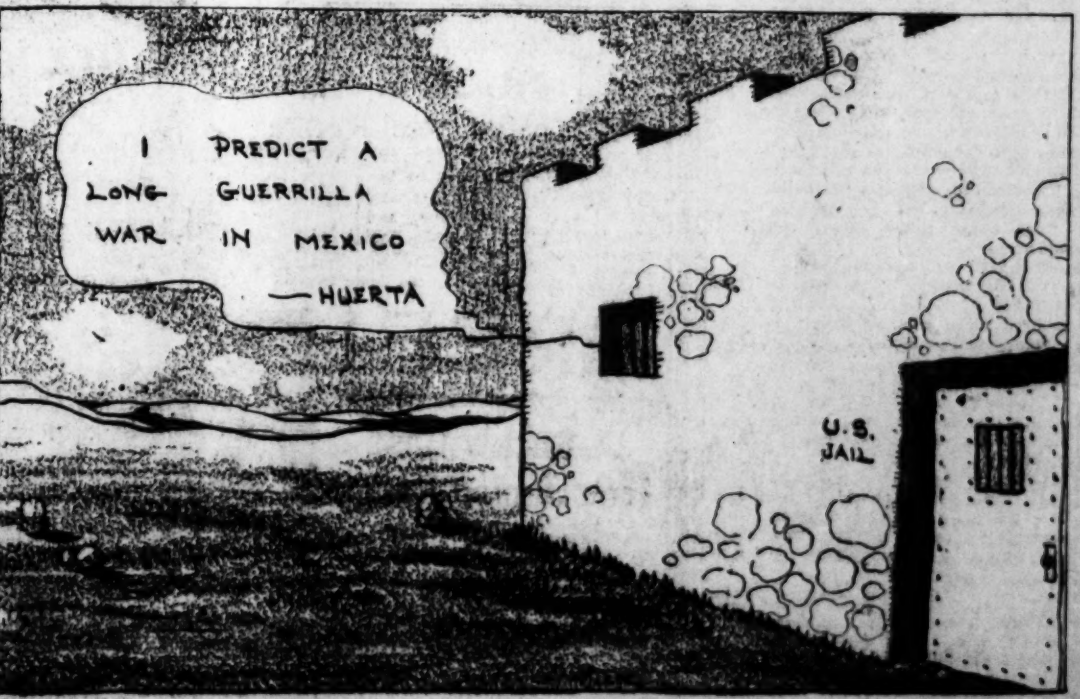

Here Mississippi marshes lie,
Deep, shimmering lakes, dark swarming sloughs,
You catch their glimmer from the sky,
Glad welcome to your migrant crews.
Do you direct your wanderings
Who hurry to far gulfs and seas
To furl a moment speeding wings
Here in our beckoning Arcades.

The Southlands call. We dare not hope
In fetters to restrain you long,
For creatures of the ether mope
Bound by a thread to them a throng.
With watering mouths we do extend
An invitation, canvas back,
To light and linger with a friend
E'en tho' he simulates a quack.
Oct. 11, 1915. HARRY O. JANUARY.

If our dry Sunday has exiled as many drummers as we have been told, it is interesting to consider where they spend Sunday now that Chicago has closed her saloons on that day. They would hardly have time to spend their week ends in Frisco, which is about the nearest metropolis left with an open Sunday.

This is the anniversary of the landing of Columbus upon San Salvador. Columbus was subsequently put in jail, but he had put the people who opposed him in a hole so much blacker that he never minded it much.

WE HAD FORGOTTEN.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

HEALTH HINTS.

OKAY. The Southern Clinic says: For hardened wax in ear, use a half-strength solution of hydrogen dioxide in the ear for five or ten minutes. This will melt and integrate the hardest plugs and they can be removed with very little syringing. I have yet to see the case in which this process has caused irritation or inflammation. Do not use too much force with the syringe. Wipe the ear perfectly dry with absorbent cotton and apply petrolatum. Wear a small plug of cotton in the ear for one day after removal. Says the Family Doctor: The upper passage of the ear does not need regular clearing by its owner. Nature understands the task and in a healthy ear does it perfectly. Nature's means for clearing the ear is the wax, which dries up into thin scales and peels off and falls away imperceptibly. In health the passage of the ear is never dry, but an attempt to clean it will infallibly make it so. Washing the ear out with soap and water is bad; it keeps the wax moist when it ought to become dry and scaly and makes it absorb dust. But the most hurtful thing is the introduction of a corner of a towel screwed up and twisted around. This proceeding irritates the passage and presses down the wax and flakes of skin upon the membrane of the tympanum, producing pain, inflammation and deafness. The waxing should only extend to the outer surface, as far as the finger can reach. An old doctor used to say: "You will be on the safe side if you don't put anything smaller than your thumb in your ear."

ANXIOUS.—As to sagging abdomen. Dr. Evans writes: The Chinese medicine: "The people who have been going to beauty specialists for liver spots should have been hitching up their abdominal organs. In some cases not much can be done in the cure of ptosis and stasis by building up the muscles until the adhesions have been broken up by operation. Bracing up of adhesions by operations may require more than one operation. Following the breaking up of adhesions and the reduction of misplaced organs to their normal positions, active muscular exercises, massage, etc., may be employed to build up the muscles of the walls of the abdomen, chest and back. These are the muscles that need special care and training in the treatment of ptosis. Dr. Martin has proposed a plan of exercises to develop these muscles. These exercises consist in placing one end of an ordinary ironing board, or board of about similar dimensions, on a chair, allowing the other end to rest on the floor. The patient is then required to lie down on the board with the head downward. This position of the body permits the gravitation of the viscera upward under the border of the board. While in this position the patient is required to practice active exercises by flexing the lower leg on the thigh and the thigh on the abdomen. Dr. Martin also recommends deep breathing exercises. These are to be practiced while the body is in the same position as when taking the muscular exercises. 1. Place both hands on the lower abdomen towards the diaphragm. 2. Elevate the shoulders with arms extended slowly at right angles to the side. 3. Elevate the arms above the head perpendicular to the body.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

R. M. T.—Ink stains were removed from Axminster carpet by applying paste of buttermilk and starch, letting it remain two days and washing off with cold water; a second application was allowed to remain three days. Someone says that the use of a turpentine and alcohol applied carefully to ink stains on carpets will remove them. If this changes the color it may be restored by ammonia water.

LOUIS.—Perlimmon beer. Take half out of a barrel, put in a bucket in bottom of a barrel; lay bricks across to rest on the bricks; then move with straw to prevent perlimmon and seal from settling at bottom, which would hinder the drawing and make it taste of ripe perlimmon in warm water; then add enough warm water to fill barrel. Let stand for three days. (We don't know perlimmon wine.)

LAW POINTS.

F.—See State Food Commissioner, 509 Olive, room 606.

P. M.—Jointly deeded property can go to no one but survivors.

MRS. A. T. C.—Tenant cannot deduct rent on account of repairs made by him, self.

W. C. Y.—Bargains of delinquent boarder may be sold after holding 30 months and advertising 15 days.

IGNORANT.—If landlord accepted rent from you as new tenant, giving full receipt, he cannot sue you for a year's suit against the county or town wherein accident occurred. Judging from what you say only, you have no case.

IGNORANT.—By taking possession, and renting the place, the landlord is not collect (a second time) from tenant who vacated, so far as your case is concerned.

L. W.—If properly indorsed, a holder in due course for value, you would be considered the legal holder of the notes secured by the deed of trust. Indorsement of notes carried the mortgage.

W. R. F.—You could have insisted upon receipts that all debts were paid. The statutes say one month's written notice when a mortgage is delivered at any time previous to rent day.

POOR WOMAN.—All you can do is to hire an attorney to sue for the fund in question. You might see Municipal Free Legal Aid Bureau, room 204 Municipal Court Building, 14th and Market streets, about the matter.

WASHERWOMAN.—The deed of trust is preferable to an ordinary mortgage, because the former is conveyed to a trustee, who does the foreclosing and delivers deed to purchaser, whereas in the latter court proceedings are necessary to foreclose, and much more expensive.

1.—Letter is fairly used, except in securing personal property.

J. J. B.—As each owns an undivided fifth interest, they have control over their interest in the real estate. The executor could not obtain a court order to sell any of it, unless it is deceased, nor could it upon his own notion unless it gives him such power. Any heir, however, bringing a partition suit in which event the same would be sold by special commissioner at public auction, at which sale heirs may participate.

MISCELLANEOUS.

J. E.—Manipulation might action your stiffened fur. Softening stiffened fur is unusual, but it is sometimes accomplished.

G. E. N.—Dyeing fur: Wash the fur free from grease with soap and water, to which a half teaspoonful of lye has been added to the bucketful, or washed with gasoline. Then dry and dye with any fast color that will dye wool.

PUNCTUATION.—Exclamation point: Not until after printing was invented was there anything worthy of the name of punctuation. The old Greeks not only had no punctuation, but ran the words together. The periods, commas and colons were used for the first time near the end of the fifteenth century. The comma was the latest of these three to be given employment. At the outset it was only a perpendicular line. Aldus Manutius, who was employed as printer in 1470, introduced the semicolon, and gave to the comma its present form. When inverted commas were first used it was intended that they should put an end to the use of the word of Italian letters; that was a French idea. Their later use indicating quoted matter is credited to English printers. We without a record of the origin of the dash and the apostrophe. Exclamation and interrogation marks are arbitrary signs that were first adopted in Alexandria when punctuation was introduced, but the books do not tell us who originated them.

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Roy L. McCordell

Reset by Bills, Mrs. Jarr Yearns to Boldly Go "Back to Bohemia."

THE Jarrs were at breakfast. Gertrude, the light running domestic, who had hastened downstairs with the letter box key at the postman's whistle, returned with the morning's mail. She delivered it all to Mrs. Jarr, of course.

"Oh, dear," sighed that good lady, "nothing but bills. I can tell that because most of them have the glazed windows."

"Glazed windows?" repeated Mr. Jarr. "That's just a patent envelope business people use to save time. The name and address on the letter inside show through, and so it is not necessary to address the envelope."

"I do not see why business people should save time at my expense—for they are bills for things," said Mrs. Jarr. "However, it's a good sign to get businesslike bills. It shows that one's credit is good."

"Whom does it show, or rather inform, that our credit is good—the post-office people?" asked Mr. Jarr.

But Mrs. Jarr did not answer, she was opening the envelopes.

"Yes, nothing but bills," she sighed, "and here's one from the butcher. And it reminds me that it isn't healthy to eat so much meat any more."

"It isn't healthy for the income, that's sure," remarked Mr. Jarr. "Most seems to be selling by the karat instead of by the pound."

"I really believe it would be cheaper for us to dine out like we used to when we were first married," said Mrs. Jarr. "Don't you remember those dear little Bohemian restaurants—when I say dear I don't mean expensive—where we used to get lovely little French and Italian dinners for 50 and 60 cents—including wine?"

"I am afraid we couldn't find those restaurants any more—the high cost of living has affected them, too. Besides, we were younger then and Bohemia mightn't appeal to us now, even could we find our way back there again."

"Well, maybe so," sighed Mrs. Jarr. "But they were delightful little places. The tablecloths weren't as spotless as they might be, if I remember, and we were always afraid to eat the fish, and the little bit of meat they gave you was tasteless, so everybody made a meal of the spaghetti. Still, those Bohemian days were delightful."

"I don't think the children would care for Bohemia, nor Gertrude," said Mr. Jarr. "Gertrude wouldn't find Bohemia refined. But if you long for old Bohemia days let us give up the flat and take a garret with a skylight and a gas stove and some frying pans hidden behind a Japanese screen and call the joint a studio."

"Well, I don't believe that Bohemianism, like charity, should begin at home," said Mrs. Jarr. "And, speaking of keeping house in a studio, you remember the young couple we got acquainted with at the Bohemian restaurant where all the ptomaine poisoning cases occurred—let us see, what was their name? You know she was a thin, green complexioned woman and her husband was awful tiresome. He used to

Well Done, George!

IT had been their first separation, and during one week the young husband had sent his dear little wife 10 letters, 15 picture postcards and four telegrams. Why, then, this touch of coldness in her welcome on his return?
"Dearest," he whispered, as he drew her to his manly bosom, "what is wrong? What have I done to upset my little duckysweeps?"
"Oh, George," she replied in broken tones, "you didn't send me a kiss in your seventh letter!"
George thought like lightning for a moment before he replied:
"I know I didn't, pety, but I had steak and onions that night for supper and you wouldn't like me to kiss you after eating onions, would you?"—Chicago Herald.

A Counter Attack.

A PROMINENT Englishman once dined in Paris and next to him at the table was a Newport belle, says the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph. The conversation drifted to a discussion of things American, and the Briton made some rather disagreeable remarks.
"Why, d'ye know," he continued, "at some of the places I dined in America I saw people eat with their knives and spill soup on the tablecloth."
The American girl was thoroughly provoked by this time, but she replied, with an apparent unconcern:
"What poor letters of introduction you must have had, my Lord."

Not Dangerous

YOU criticize us," said the Chinese visitor, "yet I see all your women have their feet bandaged."
"That is an epidemic," it was explained to him gently, "which broke out in 1914. Those are called spats."

Life is repression; repression is life.

A Case of Luck.

SMITH and Jones were talking war, politics and crops some time ago, when Jones casually mentioned somebody's stroke of luck. Whereat Smith smiled rather skeptically.
"What's the matter?" asked Jones with a wondering glance at the other.
"You surely don't doubt it, do you?"
"Oh, no," answered Smith. "I was merely smiling over the confident way that you used the term luck. There isn't such a thing."
"Is that so?" was the prompt response of Jones. "Well, there is just where you guess again! Didn't you ever see anybody upset an inkstand when it was empty?"

Widely Known.

I WANT you to publish these poems in book form," said a seedy-looking man to a London publisher.
Publisher: I'll look over them, but I cannot promise to bring them out, unless you have a well-known name.
Poet: That's all right. My name is known wherever the English language is spoken.
"Ah, indeed! What is your name?"
"John Smith."
